LGIU AUSTRALIA

LGIU Australia helps local councils drive forward the ideas and solutions needed to provide sustainable public services in the future.

Launched in February 2020, LGiU Australia is a partnership between non-profit think tank and information service LGiU and Australian urban policy consultancy and certified Benefit Corporation SGS Economics and Planning.

A membership organisation for local government, LGiU Australia is funded by local government members to provide a valuable information services and help develop new insights and solutions to critical challenges.

A PARTNERSHIP BETWEEN LGiU & SGS ECONOMICS AND PLANNING

VISION

“At LGIU, we know that local government fulfils its potential when it has access to the best information, insight and ideas from home and abroad. Our ambition is to be the world’s leading knowledge hub for local government and to create a global network of local authorities, public servants and politicians supporting each other to strengthen local democracy, improve public services and meet the complex challenges of the 21st century.”

Jonathon Carr-West, Chief Executive, LGIU

“A certified BCorp, our team works to find solutions to pressing issues impacting Australia’s places, communities and economies. Local governments are critical to shaping sustainable communities, and we’re excited to help councils stay informed and create new ideas and solutions through LGiU Australia.”

Alison Holloway Chief Executive Officer
SGS Economics and Planning.

PURPOSE

SHARE & LEARN

Share knowledge on a national and international platform and stay ahead of evolving issues and trends

SOLVE

Develop innovative solutions to issues impacting the local government sector

CREATE

Conduct research and develop practical knowledge and insights

INFLUENCE

Draw on the expertise of LGiU and urban policy consultants SGS Economics and Planning to influence reform

COLLABORATE

Collaborate with international and local councils and develop new ideas

LGiU Australia is a place where local governments can connect and learn from each other, both locally and internationally. It's a place where information and new ideas are shared freely for more impact. And it's a place where local government leadership teams can collaborate and shape the future of local government. Another important feature of LGiU Australia membership is the ability for local governments to draw on the specialist expertise of LGiU and SGS Economics and Planning to help understand and solve specific issues.

To build on its strengths local government needs a continuous exchange of information and ideas across Australia and internationally. This will help councils address the challenges they face, and demonstrate their vital contribution to our country’s wellbeing. In short, local government needs a dedicated national ‘think tank’ and that’s exactly what LGiU Australia provides

Graham Sansom, Adjunct Professor, UTS Centre for Local Government

Hawkesbury City Council are extremely happy to have signed up to LGiU Australia. We participated as part of the trial period and found great value in receiving this information daily and it’s very useful understanding what other Councils are doing during these unprecedented times. We look forward to continuing to receive the information.
